

Psychosocial Care and Health Promotion for Refugees in Märkisch-Oderland

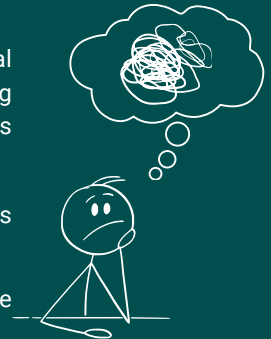

We offer psychosocial and psychological counselling for displaced adults, children and young people. We have three counselling centres in the district and can also come to you on request.

Our team of psychologists and social workers offers individual psychological counselling and group sessions. The counselling sessions are always confidential and free of charge, with translators available if required.

We also organise workshops and seminars on mental health for clients and professionals.

Our aim is to improve mental health care for people on the move in the district and promote awareness of mental health.
